

Resources

Below is a list of useful resource links. Note that I have not received any payment for including any of these here, and neither would I if offered. So you can be sure that they have been chosen with your best interest in mind only and not theirs. But this does not mean that I necessarily particularly recommend any of them.

With the exception of the first few which I consider to be the most important, they are listed alphabetically. The ones marked with the  I consider to be particularly important or useful.
